DETAILED ACTION

Response to Amendment

1. The amendment filed 6/2/09 has been entered. Claims 1-33 are pending.
Claims 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, 8, 9, 10, 12, 13, 14, 15, 16, 17, 18, 19, 20, 21, 23, 24, 25, 26, 29, 30, 31, 32 and 33 have been amended. Claims 1, 14, 19, 25, 30 and 32 are independent claims. The claims comprise 6 groups/set of claims:

- 1) method: 1-13,
- 2) method: 14-18,
- 3) method: 19-24,
- 4) method: 25-29,
- 5) system: 30-31, and
- 6) system: 32-33.

Election/Restrictions

2. Restriction to one of the following inventions is required under 35 U.S.C. 121:
- I. Claims 1-13, drawn to a method for protecting domain name registrations, classified in class 705, subclass 1.
Independent Claim 1 comprises a plurality of new steps of:
  - a) receiving a request....,
  - b) receiving a one-time permanent registration....,
  - c) creating a permanent registration ....,
  - d) issuing a permanent registration certificate ...., and
  - e) providing access to the .....

II. Claims 14-18, drawn to a method for providing permanent registration, classified in class 705, subclass 40.

Independent Claim 14 comprises a plurality of steps of:

- a) generating a list of existing domain name registrations ...,
- b) paying automatically all renewals fee payments ...,
- c) querying the public domain name register ...,
- d) transferring additional renewal fee payments ....,
- e) notifying administrators ..., and
- f) repeating steps (a)-(c ) periodically,

III. Claims 19-24, drawn to a method for providing a permanent web-site, classified in class 705, subclass 7 or 26.

Independent Claim 19 comprising a plurality of steps of:

- a) accepting a domain name for which ....,
- b) accepting electronic content for a permanent web-site ...,
- c) accepting a one-time permanent web-site fee...,
- d) hosting a permanent web-site .....

IV. Claims 25-29, drawn to a method of providing co-use of a permanent registration of a domain name, classified in class 705, subclass 8.

Independent Claim 25 comprising plurality of steps:

- a) hosting a permanent domain name on a network server ....,
- b) receiving a request for electronic content ....,
- c) determining which one of the plurality of co-users ....,
- d) directing the request to the determined co-user.

V. Claims 30-31, drawn to a permanent domain name system (apparatus), classified in class 709, subclass 203 or class 705, subclass 35.

Independent claim 30 basically comprises of:

- a) a first server....,
- b) a plurality of other servers ... for determining, paying and verifying all current and future renewal fees....

VI. Claims 32-33, drawn to a permanent domain name system (apparatus), classified in class 709, subclass 203 or class 705, subclass 1 or 35.

Independent claim 32 basically comprises of:

- a) a first server....,
- b) a permanent web-site for permanently hosting a web-site ..., and
- c) a plurality of other servers ... for hosting a permanent website.

The inventions are distinct, each from the other because of the following reasons:

3. Inventions (I, II, III, IV) and (V, VI) are related as process and apparatus for its practice. The inventions are distinct if it can be shown that either: (1) the process as claimed can be practiced by another and materially different apparatus or by hand, or (2) the apparatus as claimed can be used to practice another and materially different process. (MPEP § 806.05(e)). In this case, the apparatus as claimed can be used for distributed data processing with issues respecting general business registration or website hosting.

1. Inventions I, II, III and IV are unrelated. Inventions are unrelated if it can be shown that they are not disclosed as capable of use together and they have different designs, modes of operation, and effects (MPEP § 802.01 and § 806.06). In the instant case, the different inventions have different modes of operations and effects as shown in the claimed steps above and are not capable of use together even though they may have one common step because they basically have different scope as shown in the preamble and last step of the claim which normally reflect the scope.

2. Inventions V and VI are unrelated. Inventions are unrelated if it can be shown that they are not disclosed as capable of use together and they have different designs, modes of operation, and effects (MPEP § 802.01 and § 806.06). In the instant case, the different inventions have different designs and effects are not capable of use together even though they may have one common element because they basically have different scope as shown in the last element of the claim which normally reflect the scope.

3. For example in independent apparatus claim 32, it has a permanent web-site for permanently hosting a website and services associated with this website. This is distinct from independent apparatus claim 30 which basically deal with setting a plurality of other servers for determining, paying and verifying all current and future renewal fees, even though they both have a first server.

4. Restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper because all these inventions listed in this action are independent or distinct for the reasons given above and there would be a serious search and examination burden if restriction were not required because one or more of the following reasons apply:

- (a) the inventions have acquired a separate status in the art in view of their different classification;
- (b) the inventions have acquired a separate status in the art due to their recognized divergent subject matter;
- (c) the inventions require a different field of search (for example, searching different classes/subclasses or electronic resources, or employing different search queries);
- (d) the prior art applicable to one invention would not likely be applicable to another invention;
- (e) the inventions are likely to raise different non-prior art issues under 35 U.S.C. 101 and/or 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph.

Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include (i) an election of a invention to be examined even though the requirement may be traversed (37 CFR 1.143) and (ii) identification of the claims encompassing the elected invention. For example, Group I, claims 1-13.

The election of an invention may be made with or without traverse. To reserve a right to petition, the election must be made with traverse. If the reply does not distinctly and specifically point out supposed errors in the restriction requirement, the election shall be treated as an election without traverse. Traversal must be presented at the time of election in order to be considered timely. Failure to timely traverse the requirement will result in the loss of right to petition under 37 CFR 1.144. If claims are added after the election, applicant must indicate which of these claims are readable on the elected invention.

If claims are added after the election, applicant must indicate which of these claims are readable upon the elected invention.

Should applicant traverse on the ground that the inventions are not patentably distinct, applicant should submit evidence or identify such evidence now of record showing the inventions to be obvious variants or clearly admit on the record that this is the case. In either instance, if the examiner finds one of the inventions unpatentable over the prior art, the evidence or admission may be used in a rejection under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) of the other invention.
